

SPEAKING TOPICS

As a speaker in churches of every denomination, public and private schools, sororities, recovery centers, teen programs, business organizations, and prisons, Jen is adept at tailoring her message appropriately for the audience and venue. All of these messages have been taught in secular or faith-based environments, and can be expanded for retreats.

Testimony

Jen shares the captivating story of her rise in the world of fashion, her heart-wrenching fall, and the discovery of Christ she made at the bottom. Based upon the Parable of the Pearl of Great Value, which tells us the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant in search of fine pearls, this message is designed to connect listeners to the heart of God, who will go to the depths of darkness to bring us back to Him.

Real Beauty

Drawing upon her years in the modeling industry, Jen shatters the illusion that outward perfection equals inner fulfillment and offers a refreshing definition of real beauty. As women discover what God sees in them, they become free to accept His perfect love that washes over their imperfections. In this talk, Jen combines storytelling with biblical teaching to help women find their true value.

Value, Identity, and Purpose

We all tend to look to the wrong things for our value. In these talks, Jen reveals the distorted view we get of ourselves when we get our identity from “men, mirrors, and the media.” Better yet, she teaches us to look to the mirror of God to discover an identity that truly lasts. We are loved, beautiful, forgiven, and chosen by God to be world changers in this generation.

“Who I Am” Poetry

As delivered in her TEDx talk, Jen calls women to restore biblical womanhood. Through her spoken word performance of six powerful poems that serve as mantras for women, she calls women to be the wives, mothers, sisters, and friends they are meant to be. She then unpacks the poetry’s meaning and teach women to hold these words in their hearts as they go home.

Marriage, Motherhood, Ministry & More

In this honest and compelling message, Jen shares the valuable lessons she’s learned on balancing marriage, motherhood, and ministry, and more. She teaches women a beautiful picture of marriage that will truly help them be better wives and mothers. The value God places on the home is central to this teaching. Every woman will benefit from this message.
